

Electronic Journals

What are electronic journals?	They are journals that have some form of electronic access. This does not mean that full-text is automatically available. Some journals only have Table of Contents electronically.
What formats do e-journals come in?	PDF – requires Adobe Acrobat. HTML – HTML can change the layout of an article, it usually is more pages than the original citation and there may or may not be graphics.
Can I access e-journals from home?	Yes, but access to these e-journals have a restricted license, and only University of Florida faculty, staff, or students are able to access these resources from off campus. You will need to use your Gatorlink Account or 14-digit library bar code. For more information: http://www.library.health.ufl.edu/information/connect.htm
What years are available full-text?	Dates vary widely depending on the publisher. Some may be from 1997 – present OR only the last 2 years OR some don't allow access to the latest articles but offer access to earlier years.

Where can I find UF's electronic journals?
The UF Libraries Catalog http://uf.catalog.fcla.edu/	E-Journals Webpage http://www.library.health.ufl.edu/resources/EJframe.htm

Neither resource is comprehensive! If you do not find the journal you are looking for in one, search the other!

What databases have links to full-text articles?
Database	Searching Tips
Certain full-text articles are available in: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • PubMed 	In PubMed  select <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Links to free full text and you will retrieve all free full-text articles. When doing regular searches, be sure you are accessing through the PubMed link from the HSC Library database page . When you look at your citations in the “ Abstract ” or “ Citation ” display, you will see icons for those we have available full-text:
In EBSCOHOST databases some articles are available full-text in: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • CINAHL • PsychINFO Most articles are available full-text in: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Alt HealthWatch • Health Business FullTEXT • SPORTDiscus with Full Text 	Some citations are directly linked to full text:  PDF Full Text OR  HTML Full Text If there is no full text icon, you can click on the  button and another screen opens showing further possibilities for finding full-text options. You can limit your search to only directly linked full text articles by checking the box in the REFINE SEARCH section. NOTE: This process will bypass those articles where there are other full-text options.
ISI databases <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Web of Science • Biosis Previews • CAB • Zoological Record 	When you see your results in these databases, each record will have this button:
Indirect access in all WEBSPIRS databases: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • CAB • IPA 	When you see your results in these databases, each record will have this button:  Clicking on this button will open another screen showing possible full-text options.
Gale Group offers mostly full text in: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Health Reference Center Academic • Health and Wellness Resource Center & Alternative Health Module 	To limit your search to full-text, check the box in front of FULL TEXT ARTICLES :
Indirect access in most FirstSearch databases including: Electronic Collections Online	When you see your results in these databases, each record will have this:  See more details for locating this item Clicking on the  button will open another screen showing possible full-text options.
MDConsult	Many articles available full-text. You must register to establish a username and password, but the process is free and quick.
ScienceDirect , via Elsevier has full articles for over 1800 journals.	Limit search to full-text, OR search through full-text journals

Free full-text medical journals available at:

Free Medical Journals <http://www.freemedicaljournals.com/>
 Directory of Open Access Journals <http://www.doaj.org/>

“If I think there is a problem with an e-journal, who do I contact?”

Cecilia Botero at cecilia@library.health.ufl.edu or call 846-0240

“If I want the library to get electronic access to a journal, what do I do?”

Contact your college/department liaison librarian or fill out the online request form located on the library's homepage.

For further help with database searching, call the Reference Desk at the UF HSC Library 352-273-8414
For HSC Library database access information, call the Informatics Lab at 352-273-8446
For the Borland Library, Jacksonville, call 904-244-3240.